Marshall, Ten Years After . . .

Ten years After mini skirts, "67" Chevy's, knee socks and penny loafers, there are midi skirts, custom vans, psychodelic knee socks and platforms. Ten years may not seem very long to some people but to the Patriots, it's a milestone. Enrollment ten years ago was 1,022 students and 57 staff members. Now there are nearly 2,400 students and 145 staff members. Remember dress codes and when skirt lengths were measured?

"You've Come a Long Way Baby" is true for Marshall girl athletes. Ten years ago girls weren't playing competitive basketball, tennis, track and volleyball. In January, 1970, the JMHS girls began their competition in basketball.

Our expansion in curriculum is never ending; each year as we return to school there are improvements on current classes and some are eliminated. The science and English departments have made the most in changes in our short history.

Although the expansion of classes and student enrollment is rapid, the expansion of the school building is not so rapid. In the 10 years Marshall's been open, one new hall has been added although approximately 1,378 students have been added. Classes have to be juggled in the opening of each semester to balance the classes.

Some things remain the same—rock-n-roll music, candy sales and boredom in study halls. Students still complain about the trashy cafeteria and "not Mom's" food.

Some of the original staff is still here, "Get involved" is still their theme song to Patriots. Another "Marshall first" such as all-school ID cards still happens because of our short history, but the excitement of many "firsts" is gone. Now we're building traditions. Ten years and building . . .

Faces—now and then

Though time passes,
Some things remain the same,
Halls, people and classes—
They just hardly ever change.

Different people give different expressions for many different reasons.
Some are in thought of passion,
Others change with the seasons.

Imagine no expression change,
Everyone walking around the same.
There wouldn't be any emotional range,
Everyone might as well not have a name!

Think back ten years ago in the halls of John Marshall High School when fashions were dresses and skirts above-the-knee with blouses or sweaters for girls, and boys wore dress pants and sport shirts. Shoes were pennyloafers, pumps or flats. Girls' hairstyles were either long and flipped up or short and teased. Boys' hairstyles were burrs or hair cut short above the ears.

Today, however, is a different story. While skirts and dresses are back below the knee, girls are now wearing dress pants or jeans to school.

"I like to wear the new style of skirts because they are comfortable," says Cathy Scott.

"I wear everyday jeans to school," states Cathy Burman.

The styles of guys are jeans and T-shirts or dress pants and nice cut shirts.

"I like to wear dress jeans that are comfortable to school," comments Dan Crouch.

Earth and Platform are today's styles in shoes.

"I like to wear comfortable walking shoes like Cloud Climbers," says Lynn Royce.

Though some people prefer their hair long, the new style in hair is the short and feathered look.

Bad Machines

Drive-in movies, fast-food services, concerts and various other pastimes were mentioned by John Marshall students, when asked "Where do you go and what do you do in your spare time?" Although, many students had jobs, most say that they always find time for recreation and going places. Some students take lessons of some sort; others just like to be outside or take it easy.

"On weekends I go camping; I hike, swim and go bird watching," stated Debbie Meyer.

"I go to football games and movies, the best movie I saw this year was 'Bad News Bears'," stated Kelly Deer. Prices of movies are from $1.25 in the afternoon to $3.75 in the evening.

Robyne Venable stated, "I'm interested in ballet and folk dancing; I take ballet lesson at Jordan College."

"Mostly I like to eat out at Shakey's Pizza because the atmosphere is great and Tuesday night is all you can eat night!" stated Michelle Zukoski.

"I work a lot but, I also go to concerts, where there's lots of people and a lot going on, I like Kiss, Foghat and Black Sabbath the best," says Bruce Everett. Concert tickets range from $5.50 to $12.50.

Patriot Personalities boost spirit at school events

"Are you really Hector Heathcoat?" Dozens of kids asked me that question this year. Sometimes I even said yes. In a way I am like him. Hector always stood out in a crowd, no matter what was going on. And when I have my Patriot outfit on, there is no way to avoid standing out. Personally I like to be singled out like that.

Memories such as kids calling me Betsy Ross, and asking me how George is. And memories of little children tugging at my dress and with their smiling faces saying shyly, "Hi, Betsy Ross." I really get a good feeling inside just looking at their faces. I just hope the future Patriot Personalities have as much fun as we did and less trouble altering the outfits.

Being chosen to be the Patriot Personalities was a very big honor, but the qualifications to be chosen are extremely rigid. First you need to have school spirit. Second, you have to show it. To be the two people picked to represent our school at all the sports events and various other school functions meant an awful lot to us. We felt proud to represent John Marshall High School and support the school in its activities. This was our last year at Marshall and we just wanted to give it all we had. We're just thankful it gave us all it could offer.

'1776' — out of sight!

"John, sit down!" sings the Congress to John Adams as he paces and fumes over the Congressional delays in hot, humid Philadelphia.

Not since 1972's "Sound of Music", which starred Mary Crock ett, Charles Welhoelter and Susan Murray, had there been a John Marshall musical. As a community celebration of the nation's Bicentennial, "1776", a musical comedy focusing on Adam's frustrations in persuading the members of the Continental Congress to declare independency, was performed.

More than 100 students cooperated to produce the production directed by Janet Eberle, Mrs. Cynthia Featheringill, Jerry Hurst and Paul Justice.

Student managers were Kevin Bouchonnet, James Weir and Jeff Henry. Electricians were Ron Gebby, Brian Rifner and Pat Mur phy. On pin rail were David Baker, Joe Emperly and Richard Smith. On sound was Charles Langwell, Toni Parks and Mike Arnold. Brenda Stover, Freda Hollingsworth, Karen Bouchonnet and Kathy Bruce ran the spots. The floor crew was Jeff Fox, Kevin Smith and Charlotte Tabor.

Do you wanna dance?

Prom, Turnabout major dances for most Marshallites

Here you are standing in the middle of the hall and your heart is about ready to jump out of your mouth. This is the way many girls at John Marshall felt as they were getting ready to ask one certain guy if he would go to Marshall's Annual Turn-About.

"What am I gonna say to him?"

"What if he says no?"

Then you hear the voice of a good friend.

"Go ahead ask him."

"Don't just stand there ask! This is the final and last chance, so you gotta do it now."

The spring Turn-About was a success according to the 400 kids who danced to the Chicago-sound band.

1. Taking a refreshing break at the punch bowl, Julie Shephard and Rick Wiedman seem to be enjoying themselves.
2. Some 400 people came to the Annual Turn-About for an evening of fun and dancing.
3. Deciding to sit this dance out are John Allen, Vicky Swinford, Diane Christ and Pat Mayfield.

1. Anxiety and excitement are the common feelings as the Prom Queen and King are chosen.
2. Robin Clevenger gets advice from Mike Bordenkircher.
3. Queen Robin Clevenger and King Mark Steiner start the opening dance.

As May 21 came nearer, the wallets started shrinking.

"How am I gonna pay for all the stuff I need for the prom?"

"I need $33 for the rental of my tux and I haven't even thought about the cost of the dinner, the tickets, the corsage and pictures."

"I'll never be able to get that."

Prices of tuxedos have gone up $7 in the past five years. New styles with a kaleidoscope of colors have appeared on the market.

Then the prom came, more suddenly than most students expected. It was a night of excitement and dancing. Nobody really thought about the prices of anything.

Robin Clevenger and Mark Steiner were crowned queen and king of the Prom in the 500 Ballroom of the Convention center. Linda Spang, Mary Beth Stiener, Linda Cornelius and Gail Tremain made up the queen's court. Making up the king's court were Bob Baker, Mike Bordenkircher, David Dixon and Don Schroder.

Carder, Christensen, Dixon winners in spring

Marshall's spring sports program has always been strong and loaded with talent. Golf has the most successful spring athlete in the form of sophomore John Fischer. Being the number one man on the squad would have been enough for most sophomores. Throughout the season, the hardworking youth collected many honors. Two of the most important were being a Medalist in the City and becoming the Junior PGA Champion of Indiana.

Baseball has always been a big sport at Marshall. The squad did have another fine outing, including being sectional champs for yet another year. In carrying on the tradition of great athletes like Joe Hicks and John Crabtree were outstanding players Tom Carder and John Featheringill.

Many of the remaining spring sports received little recognition, such as track and girls tennis. However, these teams did work just as hard. Despite a disappointing season, the girls tennis squad produced many outstanding players including Linda Christensen, Patricia Montgomery and Karen Weaver. The girls track team had an impressive season with Dianna Christensen as the top athlete. Dianna captured three school records in the high jump, hurdles and long jump. The boys track also had two runners of particular importance, senior Dave Dixon and sophomore Michael Pollard. The thinclads will be glad of Pollard's return to the hurdles.

Fisher PGA Champ, Medalist

With golfers like Junior Indiana PGA champion John Fisher and seniors Mark Utter and Gary Williams, the Patriots were able to compile an impressive team record. The team hopes to better their second place finish in the city tournament.

Fisher, who was also the city champ, was the first Marshall golfer ever to qualify for regional competition. He also received an all-expenses paid trip to Disney World to compete in the Junior National PGA Tournament and his picture also appeared in the "Professional Golfers' of America", a national golf magazine.

The team carried an 11-5-1 record into the sectional where they were tied by Warren Central for fourth place. Golfers for Marshall were first man John Fisher, second man Doug Reed, third man Kent Vonburg, fourth man Mark Uter, fifth man Gary Williams and sixth man Kevin Russell. Other team members incuded Tom England, Scott Worpell, Brad Wilkie and Jay Cain.

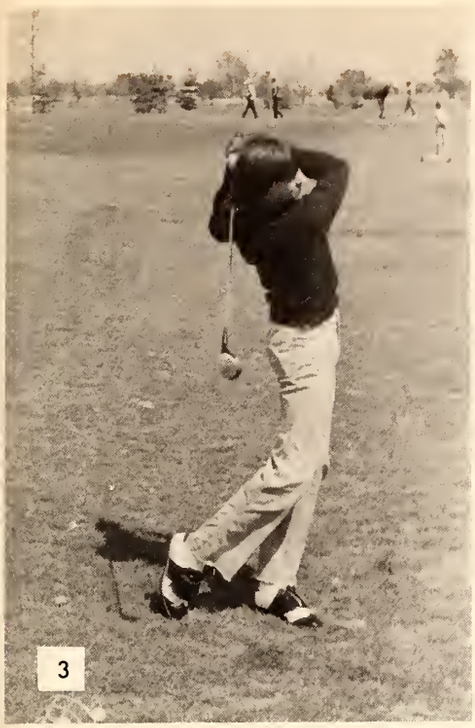
Goins leads Pats in sad season



Girls Tennis team ended their 1975 campaign with a team record of 1 win and 7 losses, despite the above-average performance of many of the girls. Led by seniors Karen Goins at number one singles and Shirley Pride at the number two position, the Patriot netters lost many of their matches by a slim 4-3 score.

One sophomore player summed up the season this way, "A lot of girls had winning seasons, we just couldn't put it all together to win the ones we had to." This was exemplified as Pride finished the season with a respectable 6-6 record while Goins finished 5-8 at the very difficult number one position.

Along with these two players, two underclassmen, Joan Kane and Linda Christensen showed that they will have to be reckoned with in the '76 season. Christensen was particularly outstanding with a 5-6 season. She still has one year left to play.

Perhaps the most promising feature of the season was the outstanding play of the number one doubles team of Patricia Montgomery and Karen Weaver. This pair blasted their way through the season with a 6-4 record and then capped off the year in a fitting way by placing fourth in the City Tournament. They viewed this year by saying, "A few missed shots and this season could have been completely different. We will be a much improved team next year."

Their predictions don't seem too far off when we look ahead to next year. Despite losing the number one and two players, the netters will still have Kane and Christensen moving up into these difficult positions. If Montgomery and Weaver can improve their game, next year will hold quite a few surprises for some unsuspecting teams on the Patriot's schedule.

1. Doug Reed looking for improvement in style.
2. Linda Christensen prepares to finish off her opponent with a backhand smash.
3. Sophomore Kent Von Burg completes his follow through, and watches his ball on its flight to the hole.
4. Patricia Montgomery bears down on her serve.

Varsity Ball Club Repeat Sectional Champs

John Featheringill

Kurt Guldner

Mark Vanderm

This year's Varsity additions included pitchers John Henry, Mark Steiner and John Featheringill who combined with veteran Tom Carder to give the Pats a strong pitching staff. Infielders Kurt Guldner, Pat Mayfield, Mike Rodman and Russell Dorsey teamed up with Kevin Goffinet and Mike Schaub to provide a hustling infield. Outfielders Doug Whyde, Stan Stevens, Bob Baker and Mark Vandermuelen joined Elliot Jacobs and Stan Breeden to round out the team with a solid outfield unit.

This year's Patriot team coupled with the coaching and managing abilities of Bob Tremain and Dane Paff respectively were able to defeat Beech Grove and Warren Central to become the Sectional Champs. The team then traveled to the Regionals only to be defeated by Carmel. However, they still remained the City Runnerups with their 22 and 7 win-loss record.

The Junior Varsity team, guided by first year coach Brad Goffinet was able to pull out an impressive 11 win and 6 loss record.

Behind the strong pitching of Scott Carder, Steve Thomas, Tom Clements and Chris Pritchett, the all underclass team was able to put it together for a successful season. The rest of the hard working team consisted of Scott Sterret, Steve Roman, Dan Schluge, Tim McCoy, Joe DeVore, Dennis Johnson, Jeff Gosnell and Mark McKinley. The team also had three freshmen standouts in Pritchett, Greg Agee, and Jim Huston. Coach Goffinet was pleased with his first year.

When Bill Baugh, a Physical Education teacher at P.S. 94 was brought in to coach the Freshmen Baseball team, many people expected a more or less average season. But, much to everyone's surprise Coach Baugh delivered an almost perfect 7 and 1 win-loss slate.

The avid freshmen came out with a strong pitching staff this year as young hurlers Jim Huston, Greg Agee, and Chris Pritchett had a total of only 43 runs scored against them of 49 innings of pitching. Huston was the winningest pitcher with a 4-1 record.

But, the team's success was also because they came out swinging. By the end of the season, they had amassed a total of 99 runs in 8 games. Much of their batting success rested in the hands of Bill Rushton, Jeff Bowlby, Larry Willan, Steve Hicks, Danny Lessley and Mike Kidwell.

Track team run strong

Marshall's track teams had a good year with the girls team finishing a strong eight and one season and the boys team with a respectable seven and six record.

Senior Diane Christensen and Sophomore Tanya Slaughter led the girls team in placing second in the city and sectionals and fifth in the regionals. Diane and Tanya set school and city records in the high jump and hurdles, respectively. The medley relay team also set a city record.

Seniors Kevin Cox, David Dixon, Don Russell along with Juniors Randy Moore and Mike Pollard pushed the boys team to a seventh place in the sectionals and an eleventh place over-all team standing.

Cox and Dixon ran with outstanding performance at the Indianapolis Invitational Track and Field Meet, with Cox placing sixth in the mile run and Dixon taking sixth in the 100-yd. dash.

When asked about this year, Girls Track Coach Martha Griffin said, "Areas we will have to work on will be distance running, shot put, long jump and high jump.

REPUBLICAN - DEMOCRAT NATIONAL - AMERICAN

Ford, Carter, Paff and Mollogon were a few of the people who ran for the presidential offices this year.

Not all of these people were in the running for the national presidential office, only Carter and Ford. The other two, Paff and Mollogon, ran for the president of the school in our second annual mock election.

The mock election was by the senior government classes and their teachers, although Mrs. Joyce Sausser was the one who got everything started.

Beginning last spring Sausser started making plans for the mock election. Among the first things she had to do was to get the idea passed by the school board administration. She made appointments to have guest speakers and made sure that we would have the proper facilities in which to hold the conventions. All in all she spent 30-40 hours preparing for the election outside of school time.

The social studies teachers were given a list of committees that they would head. They in turn would put students in charge of the committees. In this way they hoped that the students would get a feeling of the responsibilities placed on those people who were involved in political campaigns.

Instead of using Republican and Democrat as names, the names given to the two parties were National and American. The American convention was on October 21 and the National on October 22. The two parties announced their candidates who were Derek Paff and Linda Christensen for president and vice-president, respectively, from the American party. And for president of the National party was Raquel Mollogon with Mike Medford as her running mate. Mollogon won the election October 27 when the classes voted on a "a real live voting machine." The mock election was a practical lesson in democracy.

2. Pat Mayfield was chosen to be the Chairperson at the American convention. The people from the government classes that met during the first four periods were the ones who made up the American party.

3. American convention delegates await their exciting convention.

What's with ol' summer school

There were 733 students enrolled in Marshall's summer school program, 33 of these pupils graduated. Drivers Education has always been the summer school class with the largest enrollment. This remained true through the 1976 year. Typing was offered for the first time last summer.

"There were enough students who signed up for Home Economics classes for the 1976 summer school program, but we did not get it set up in time," commented Fred Jones.

The only problem in summer school is the fall students at JMHS who go to a school closer to their homes in the summer. These students don't let the Marshall guidance department know about the classes attended during the summer. The guidance department does not know of the classes taken during the summer and this messes up the fall scheduling.

Linda Jones, a junior at John Marshall, said, "I went to Broad Ripple because I wanted to see a new surrounding. The only advantage I got now is I am capable of getting my license."

Theresa Laners, a freshman, said, "I went to Tech because it was closer. I wanted to get a head start on earning my credits."

Jones said, "I feel Marshall has one of the best summer school programs in the city. I enjoyed being director of JMHS summer school program."

Trips taken in 1976-77

There are different camps, institutes and trips that students go to because of their different clubs, sports squad or just because of their individual responsibility.

During the summer the Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders went to a cheerleading camp at Taylor University.

Each squad went to three different classes each day consisting of gymnastics, cheers and pom-pom routines.

"We learned new motions, cheers and new stunts on the mini tramp," states J.V. cheerleader Vicki Williams.

"We received a trophy," exclaimed Elaine Houck as she explained that each squad was evaluated for ribbons and trophies.

Last spring vacation, 27 students from several different Spanish classes went to Mexico. The total cost was $375.95 and was chaperoned by Mrs. Sawicki, Mrs. Evans, Mr. Jefferson and Mrs. Royce.

"I went because I thought it would be fun, I like to travel and I wanted to see how different Mexico is from the U.S.," says Julie Bush.

While in Mexico the students went to Acapulco where they saw a bullfight. They also went to Taxco and Mexico City.

The first week in August a few people from the band went to a band camp on the south side of Purdue University where they practiced most of the day. They also met many other students and had a lot of fun.

"I went because I wanted to improve on my music and I was to go," explained Gary Davis.

"The most interesting part of the whole camp was a nature hike with our counselors, who were Mark Hayden and Dennis Waggoner," says Bob Weaver.

This summer one of our Patriot Personalities, Darren Harrison, went to a leadership camp. This was the first year for the camp that was sponsored by the Red Cross.

"I didn't know too much about leadership," says Darren Harrison.

By going, not only has he learned about leadership but he has also set a new achievement for the Patriot Personalities in the years to come. He has been asked to go back next year to be a senior counselor.

Last August there was a German Convention at East Michigan University. "I went to learn about German cultures and to have fun," says Edith Speights.

This summer Pam Adams, co-editor of the yearbook, went to Indiana University where she learned the structure and how to prepare a yearbook. Nine other yearbook and newspaper staffers also attended.

"In a way it was required but mostly I wanted to go," says Pam.

Most of the students that go on trips or to camps or institutes do not go because it's required but because they want to learn and to have fun.

Oh, the woes that beset us

"Money!"

"Will somebody ask me to the prom?"

"How can I afford the prom?"

"How do I know what I want to do after I graduate?"

"When do we order our announcements?"

"Are the senior keys here yet?"

"If I'm elected president . . ."

"Ford or Carter, how can I choose?"

"Looks like that bear's gonna pull us over."

"If my SAT scores are good and I get that scholarship, then I can go to IUPUI."

"Will the person who ran into the white Chevrolet . . ."

"My car, my car!"

"Why me?"

"What do you mean I don't have enough credits to graduate?"

"What are you doing tomorrow night? Friday? Saturday? Sunday?"

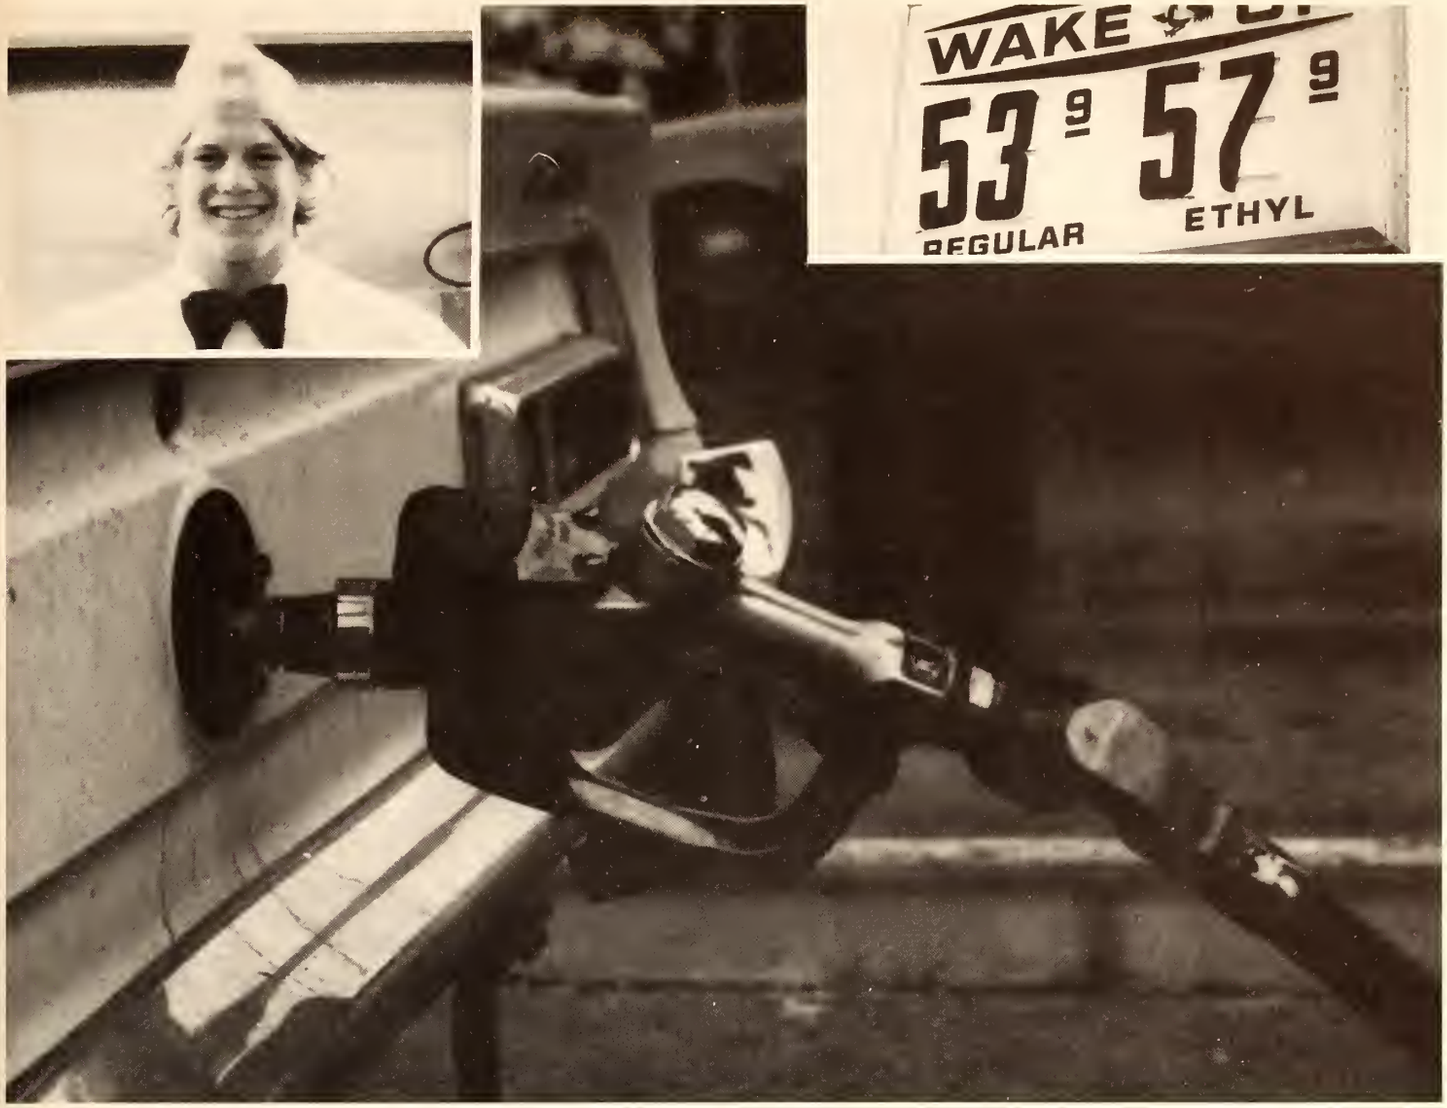
"That was SOME party last night!"

"But I have to have shortened hours, I've got to be at work at 1:00!"

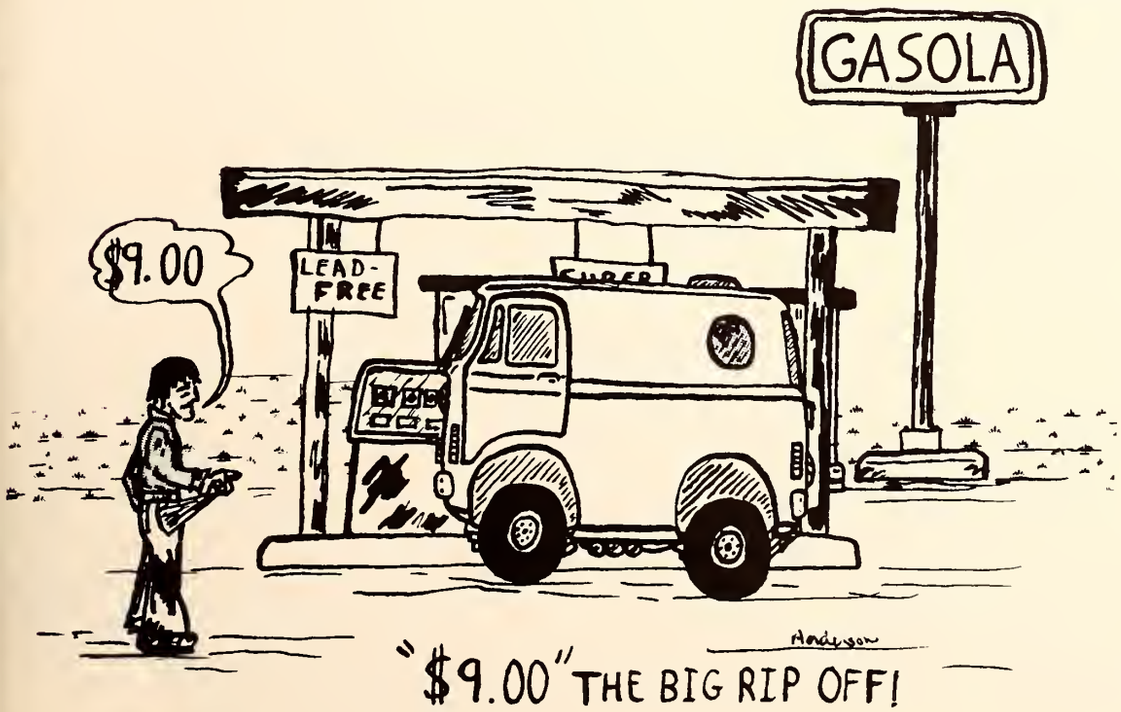
"Should I get my hair cut into a wedge?"

That "big night out" costs more than one might think, but winning the Top Hat limo to the prom helps. Ron Morgan, Sandy Shaw, Brian Holmes, Cindy Wood, Brian Hawkins, Lisa Daye, Beth Dine and Dan Devine pose in front of the Convention center for Mike Slabaugh.

One of the senior career choices could be the service. Tom Begines chose West Point for his college. A Navy flier demonstrates his flight suit for the aerospace class.



Students find it hard to keep up with rising gas prices, so they find jobs to get money to support the gas habit.



"$9.00" THE BIG RIP OFF!

Above: Mrs. Marjorie Christy and Benjamin Sanders, both of the Guidance Department, help their students work out their schedules. Below: Clifford Synder has been the Director of the Evening School Division since it began in 1970. It has become the largest Indianapolis Evening School.

Working for the students

John Marshall's Guidance Department plays an important role for the students. The Guidance Department provides five counselors for the school's 2300 students.

This is what is sometimes heard in the Guidance Office.

"I'm sorry but I cannot change your schedule."

"Do you have any idea about what you want to do when you get out of high school?"

"How many credits are you carrying right now?"

"Are you going to college?"

"Mr. Vardaman, I'm a senior and I only have 30 credits. What am I gonna do?"

Students should realize how important the Guidance Department really is. Getting schedules made out is only one of many tasks that involve the counselors and students. Keeping files and talking with each student individually also involves time for the guidance counselors and the student.

The counselors spend time and make an effort to listen to each individual. Scheduling involves much paper work. Follow up counseling is done for students with poor grades and for those with personal problems.

Evening School keeps growing

Nearly 1,300 students are taking advantage of John Marshall's Evening School. From 5 until 9 p.m., students can take both academic courses such as chemistry and math classes or personal interest courses such as upholstery and physical education.

According to Evening School Director Clifford Snyder, students enroll in Evening School for several reasons. Some teenagers finish up their senior year by going to Evening School to continue their education and maintain a job during the day. It is also common for some adults to take Evening School to finish their education. Others just want to improve skills such as in math or they want hobby classes. As of now, there are a total of 74 teachers teaching in Evening School compared to 126 teaching who teach in day school.

Beginning with the second year of Evening School, there have been six graduation ceremonies and more than 100 graduates each year. Students have a choice of a Marshall diploma or one from the school where they have earned the most credits.

The cost of Evening School is three dollars a semester for high school courses; the fee is $420.00 tuition in addition to a regular class fee.

Marshall's Evening School is open to any person 16 years or older living in the state of Indiana. However, it is difficult for a 16-year-old to get into Evening School because the administration would rather have students this age complete their education in day school.

The Monday through Thursday schedule is flexible for community members. The Night School Division continues to grow each year.

Spirit T-Shirt

Larry Lynch fighting Patriot

A rough winter with extremely cold weather and fuel shortages marred the Hoosier state this year. John Marshall was also dealt a harsh blow when Junior Larry Lynch was injured during a wrestling meet.

Lynch was injured while wrestling a person who weighed about 25 pounds more than he did. He was one of the leaders of the Class of '78 and you could always count on him to be there when he was needed.

Lynch is a very enthusiastic person and showed great spirit at all times. He was a member of the Varsity cheerleading squad and never missed a game, always in there, turning the silence of shyness into the roar of rowdiness. And even though he has suffered from doing something he loved most, he still has not lost his spirit.

Larry has the fighting spirit and has waged war against his uphill battle for recovery. "We sometimes kidded each other about breaking bones or maiming each other, never dreaming that it could ever happen to either one of us, but, now that it has, the only thing we can do is just give him confidence and support. He's got plenty of spirit, and he's strong enough to pull through. I'm sure that he will." stated Derek Paff.

Lynch does not need pity because he would not want any. Instead he needs encouragement from all his friends to show him that we're behind him and are pulling for him. Larry has never lost his fighting Patriot spirit even though the breaks have gone against him, just as they have sometimes, gone against Marshall.

Pats add new classes

Marshall always has had a wide variety in its curriculum. There are classes in different areas such as business, art, physical education, home ec., music, English, history, math, science and foreign languages.

This year we have three new classes added to our curriculum. Etymology is in the English Department. It's mainly for college-bound students wanting to take the PSAT and SAT, or just wanting to build their vocabulary. Horticulture and General Chemistry are both in the Science Department. Horticulture is the study of house plants. It's an interesting course. It teaches one how to care for, to propagate and to beautify plants as they are grown. General Chemistry is a class for college bound students who don't like all the math and extra figuring that chemistry has. This is also good for students just wanting a good overall background of science.

Marshall has and always will have a wide curriculum for students to participate in.

In etymology, students take notes to help build their vocabulary.

While some students are helping in the greenhouse, a few horticulture students debate the best plants to study.

Laying bricks for the science departments are masonry students Willie Bailey and Mark Cicenas.

Studying their worksheets in Horticulture are Kathy Worley, Wendy Williams, Debbie Odel, Julie Passwater and Susan Parrott.

Cook smokes way to 77

"I'm pleased." This is what Cross Country Coach Greg Cook has to say about the 1976 edition of Marshall's squad. The team finished 7-7 on the season, seventh in the city and fourteenth in a tough sectional. If you will look back to last year, you'll remember the team, consisting mostly of freshmen and sophomores, went winless for the season.

This year's team was led by the brilliant running of senior David Keaffaber. Keaffaber was number one man all season and did most of his running well ahead of his Marshall teammates. Chasing him were sophomores John Kuhn, Curt McDowell, Morris Miller, and Greg Arnold. These four runners carried much of the point burden. Two other members, senior Tom Morris and sophomore Don Inman were racked with injury for much of the year. Morris and Keaffaber, are seniors and will be sorely missed.

Cook remarked, "I have worked this team harder than any I've ever coached," and most team members would be inclined to agree with him. Practice started on the ninth of August, but runners had already logged about 500 miles before that date. There were two practices a day. Many early arriving students looked twice at the runners completing a five-mile run. The harriers will be expected to run between 1000 and 1500 miles before next season starts.

Behind the leadership of this year's only junior, Mark Sausser, this team of sophomores could be going places. There is even talk of a regional berth, along with first in the city, big talk for a team that was 0-13 just a year ago. However if the team improves as much as it did this year, it is entirely within its grasp.

Number one runner David Keaffaber leads the Patriots on a warm-up lap before the Roncalli meet.

Kurt McDowell starts to stride out as he improves his position in a large meet.

George's Gorgeous Gals

Running the wrong way

The announcers had arrived, the stadium lights were glaring above us, we were putting our flagbelts on. Going over plays, doing warm-ups exercises and being too nervous to think straight, we were preparing for this year's Powder Puff game.

The stands were beginning to fill. The coin was tossed, the kickoff was made, and the game between Brad's Bunnies and George's Gorgeous Gals was underway. All the long hard hours of practice, at 7 a.m. and 2:10 p.m. in the previous weeks were behind us now. Yet practice memories were still fresh.

. . . "All right defense, let's give our offense something to think about! Let's all run the wrong way!"

"When Mr. Brown comes by, let's all tackle him."

"Hey, who kicked the ball on the roof again?"

"Why do we have to keep on running?"

"Let's all wear our jerseys tomorrow."

"Yeah and we can wear our hair in pigtails."

"Does anybody have an announcement for the intercom?"

The evening closed with the entire senior class happy. "We're all winners," commented senior Lisa Crawley when the game ended in a 14-all tie. The Gals cheerleaders, Pat Mayfield, Doug Whyde, Mike McCarthy, Bill Bammell, Mark Weaver, Tom Morris and Kenny Williams, rushed to the side of their happy and victorious team. Kent Horste, Greg Beriault, Cody Bowling, Mike Barcus, Ron Morgan, Jeff Troutt and Mike Medford also congratulated their victorious team, the Bunnies.

Brad's Bunnies

The Marshall Swimming team made a big splash in their first year of existence. Coach John Deal was pleased with his team even though their record was not superior. The Pats team had 14 students. There was a lot of depth in this year's team. All the team will return next year with the exception of senior Derek Paff.

All of the swimmers were good, but a few were better than the rest due to having swum for organized teams previously. Some of the stronger people returning next year will be Dave Rowley, Larry Willan, Denny Hallam, David Browning, Randy Swineford, Don Inmann, Bob Berry and Jeff Opel. The remaining people who have a good chance to pull an upset are Mike Williams, Ed Kett, Mike Fish, Joe DeVore and Ricky Vannatta.

The boys had a strong counterpart in the Girls Swimming team. It was also the girls' first year and of the same caliber as the boys. The team was made up of nine fine young ladies who gave it their all in their first year of competition.

The team will have seven people returning next year, they are Kelly Stowe, Teresa Weisheit, Sharon Fulton, Penny Christensen and Kim Blaydoe. The girls leaving this year are Kim Williams, Karen Shroeder, Tammy Holden and Colleen Shelton. The team was not spectacular but overall Coach Jan Kennedy was pretty pleased.

1/2 TIME

The hard working Patriettes, known for their half-time entertainment, work to make every dance perfect. They are constantly practicing to make each dance different and to have the entire group act as one. Jane Hazel, sponsor from IU and minoring in PE, shows the girls at the beginning of the week, the dance step by step. Jane says, "It's kind of new for me, and it's kind of new for them having someone over them."

Before performance there's a lot of feelings and emotions for Patriettes—Terry Allen, Lisa Anderson, Denise Axelson, Debbie Barcus, Tina Burks, Tami Downton, Alice Graat, Jill Hunt, Debbie Hyde, Rose Land, Debbie Matheson, Leanne Morris, Lynn Royce, Julie Sheperd, Dawna Swinford, Charlotte Tabor, Cheryl Tiffany, and Lori Waller. Being very tense, nervous, afraid and more too often victims of fate, the Patriettes perform regardless of weather, forgetting props or just forgetting the dance.

Nevertheless, after all the frustrations of being a Patriette, the performance begins. All of the hard work is then shown to the crowd. A near perfect routine is executed, and the Patriettes have accomplished what they had set out to do.

Eric Stepp and the Majorettes

Marching

Whether sweating in the summer's heat or shivering in the autumn's chill, the Marching Band and majorettes continuously practiced to improve the half-time entertainment. The band members have also performed for school 98's Falcon football team and for North Eastwood's Minutemen football team. This year's band enrollment of approximately 93 has doubled considerably compared to last year's estimate of 30.

A Band Booster Club was formed to assist the band. Bumper-stickers, walk-a-thons and newspaper drives were formulated to collect money for the new band uniforms.

October 2, John Marshall sponsored "Band Day", where 27 schools from the state of Indiana came to compete. The Marching Band was chosen to participate in the 500 Parade and in the festivities preceding the 500 Race.

The majorettes attended many contests and parades, all placing well. The twirlers also attended all halftime events to perform.

"The squad has progressed immensely compared to the past few years," stated junior Robin Dorsey. There were sore muscles practicing ninth period and many long afternoons. This was a requirement of being a majorette.

The majorettes include Captain Debbie Hyde, Co-Captain Denise Von Axelson, Debbie Cline, Tina Burkes, Robin Dorsey, Martie Sandeford and Lisa Scott.

Patriot machine rolls on

Coach Bopp

Coach Marendt

Several changes in the coaching staff, slightly more than a handful of returning lettermen, of which only three were seniors, and several close gridiron contests were responsible for the "Fighting Patriot's" season record of 2 wins and 8 losses.

New additions to the Varsity staff were Head Coach Ed Bopp, a standout Washington High School and Butler University quarterback. Joining him was Tom Marendt, a standout Howe Hornet and a member of the Rose Bowl Champion Ohio State Buckeyes.

Returning seniors Derek Paff, Keith McCoy and Mark Pack supplied the experienced material for the Line Coach Richard Cummings to anchor a strong young offensive and defensive line. Pack and Paff along with junior Kenny Pompey were used both ways during most of the season. Seniors Kent Horste, John Burrows, Bill Brammel, and Kelvin Troutman supplied Coach Marendt with offensive and defensive backs.

Senior Randy Hartman carried the kicking chores for Marshall. The Pats suffered several losses by very close scores. In one battle the Pats retaliated against the Northwest Pioneers to come within ten yards of a winning score. On the next play Scott Carder tossed a touchdown strike to Paff. The pass was signaled complete and Marshall began celebrating; but, the call was reversed and the Pats suffered the brunt of a very controversial call. Some other close contests were against City Champs Chatard, an overtime with Crispus Attuck, and Broad Ripple.

This year Tom Henry received the Most Valuable Back Award and Mark Pack received the Most Valuable Lineman Award.

Next year looks promising for the Pats as they will have three quarters of the team back.

Frosh, J.V. fear no evil

The 1976 junior varsity football team fought against heavy odds for a winning record the first time in three years. The Pats started with a team that barely knew each other. In the first five games of the season, the Patriots only suffered one score, against them. Coach John Deal feels that his players will be a big asset to next year's varsity squad. The team depended on their offense for wins but their tenacious defense stopped opponents for 21 scoreless quarters. The exceptional players were Jamie Fish, Larry Willan, Ray Shepard, Dave Shinkle, Andris Karklins, Louis Norris and David Williams.

The Freshmen team started off slowly but regained their composure and finished the year with a 4-2-2 record. The team had two additions to their coaching staff this year. Coach Lester Bivens took over the line and Coach Lenny Brickens took over the defense while Coach Bob Tremain remained as backfield and head coach. The offense generated 110 points through an outstanding job blocking. The defense held their opponents to 52 points during the year. Some of the better players were Jonathon Scott, Jimmy White, Mike and Mark Jarosinski, Matt Schlemgon and Randy Langford.

Volleyballers City Champs

"Any team that finishes 10-3 on the season would have to be considered successful, and if they were City Champs, it would be that much more successful," explained Shirley Lambert, coach of volleyball's City Champion. The varsity squad rolled up 16 victories, falling in only three close matches to powerful county teams.

Led by four players who have had three years of experience, the team became the most successful of all the fall sports programs. Robbin Bryant, Linda Christensen, Sue Erickson and Penny Thompson were on the 1974 City Championship team. Tina Knapp, who thrilled the crowds with her spikes, Susan Napper and sophomore sensation, Linda Dyke, rounded out the varsity. Lambert attributed the team's success to well-rounded team play.

Next year does look good, considering the loss of six of the eight varsity spots to graduation. With Napper and Dyke as a nucleus of the team, the 10-4 junior varsity should contribute heavily to the varsity team. Players like Trish Montgomery, Diane Casey and Karen Weaver should be excellent varsity material.

A. Lisa Mansfield and Darren Harrison.

If you went to see a play rehearsal what would you see? You would see the stage crew putting the sets in place. Some would be painting. Tape marks the places for the props.

The curtains open, the actors and actresses appear when they hear their cues. "Louder," shouts Director Jerry Hurst.

Phones don't ring, lines are forgotten and cues are missed.

"Harvey" is about Elwood P. Dowd who believes he sees a six-foot white rabbit, a pooka. His sister, Mrs. Simmons, tries to admit him into a mental home, and the fun starts. Dr. Sanderson, believing that she needs help, has her admitted!

Mrs. Chumley talks to Elwood and finds out about Harvey. She, (thinking Harvey's a person) tells Dr. Sanderson and Dr. Chumley. Dr. Chumley begins looking for Elwood.

Later Elwood goes to the sanitarium and talks to Dr. Sanderson. Elwood tells them that Dr. Chumley is out with Harvey.

Speech meeting

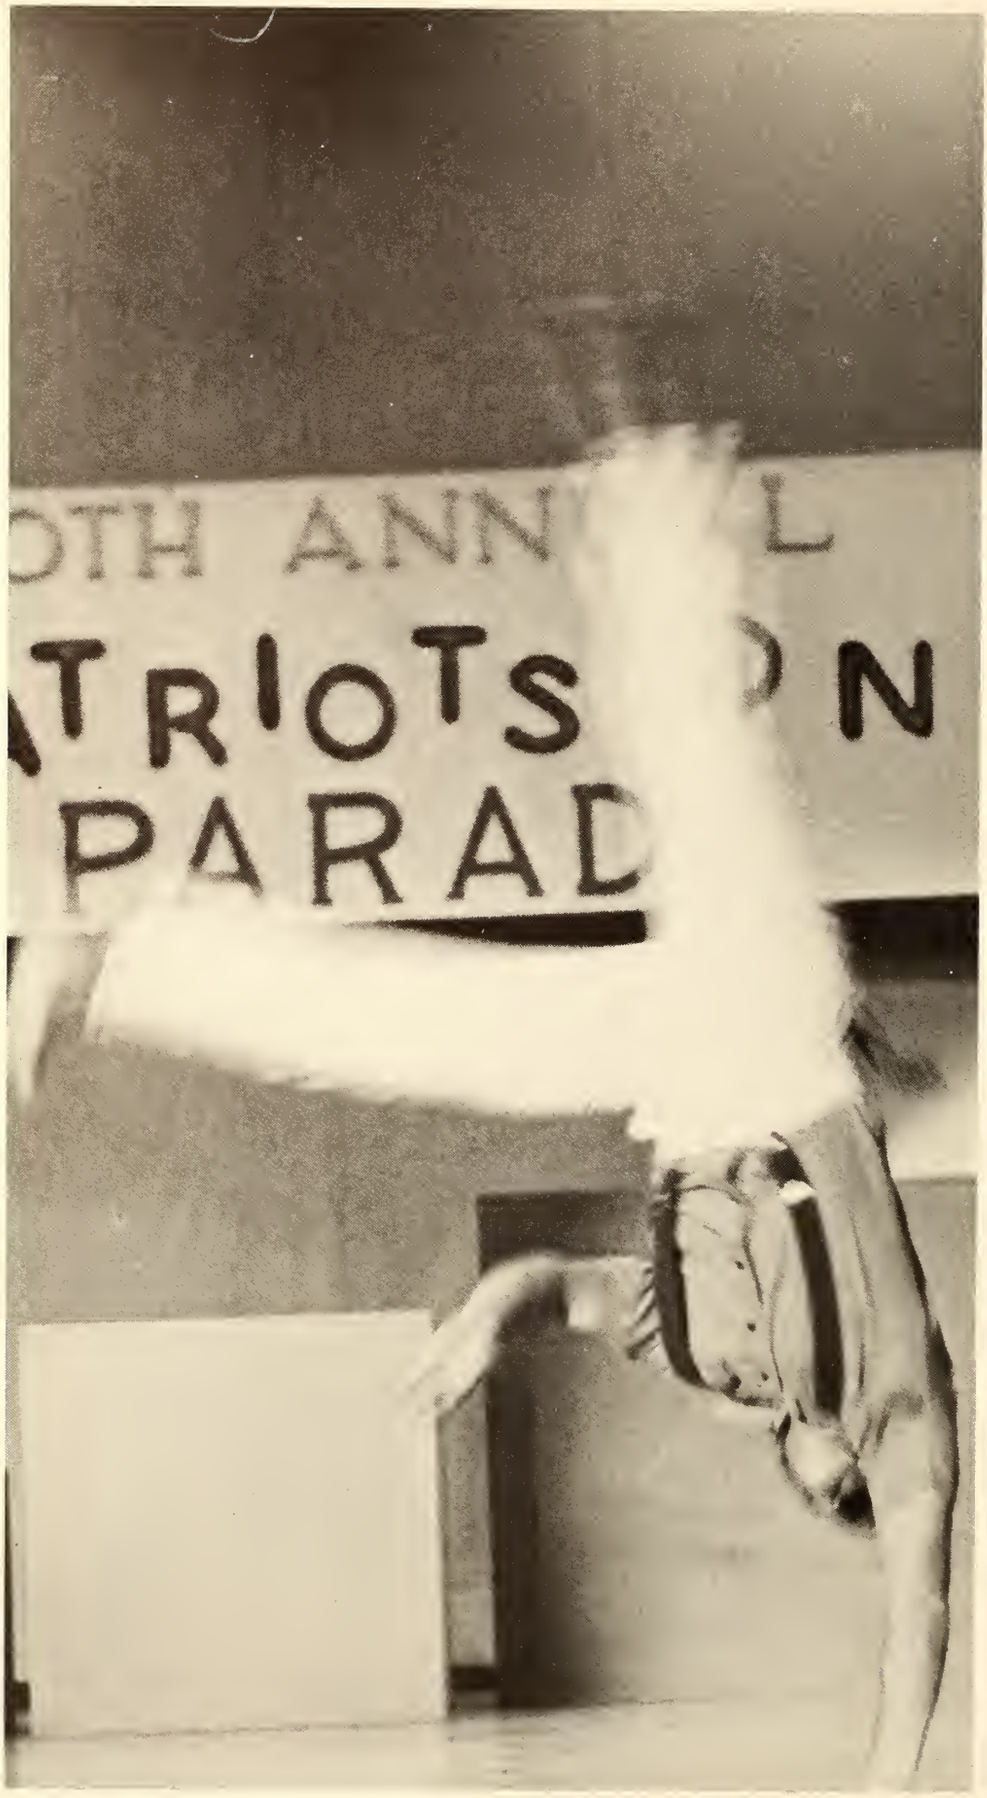
A stage is lit below angled rows of reclining chairs. Someone knocks on the door, and an echo reaches through the auditorium. Small figures move about on the stage, this is the base for stagecrew and Thespians.

Stagecrew, consisting of about 30 members, builds props, and scenery for the school plays. A class called Art Production teaches students how all the work "behind the curtains" are done.

Thespians are affiliated with the International Thespians Society. Seeing shows, discussing, researching and studying are all aspects of the theatre. Thespians put forth a lot of time and effort, thus benefitting the school's dramatic performances.

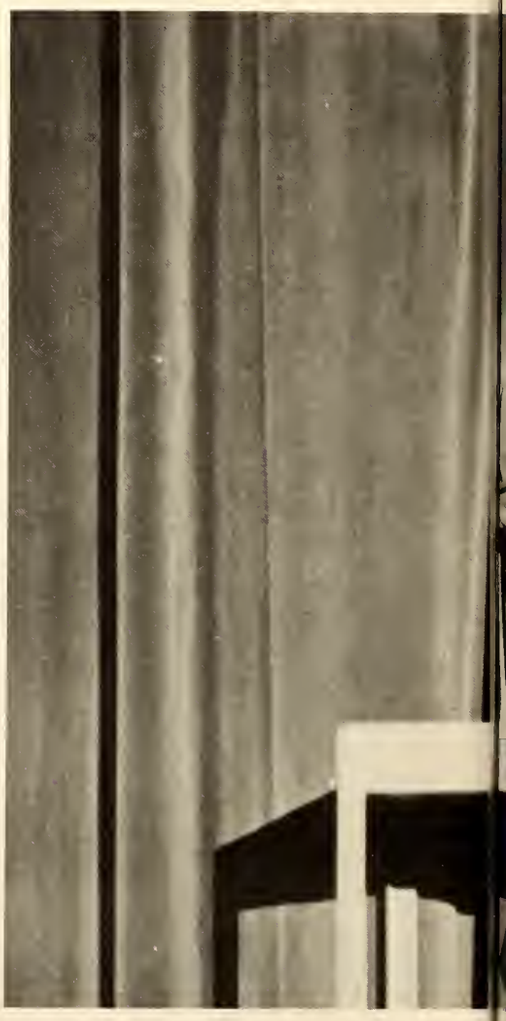
Speech Team, consisting of about 25 members, represents Marshall in contests every Saturday. Practicing plays is a big role for this club meeting twice a month on Wednesday afternoons. The entire Speech Club meets on Wednesday, also.



Senior Ron Morgan dances to the song, "Barefoot Joe."

Seniors Beth Dine, Darren Harrison and the Marshallaires dance and sing to "Aquarius."

Senior Darren Harrison casts as a midget in Patriots On Parade.



What do you mean—didn't show up!

It's quiet, anybody that is talking, talks quietly. The performers are in the "Green Room," the directors are talking to the stage crew, and then going to the positions they'll take during the show. Almost everyone is ready.

Tonight is Patriots On Parade.

The director's assistant is running around trying to find Mrs. Featheringill, one of the directors. There is a rumor of a change.

7:11 p.m., it's time for the Pit Band to start. The audience is already in their seats and waiting. 7:15, the first act is on! The audience applauds. The director's assistant sends his assistant to get the next act. What? They're not there! Where are . . . Oh, they're already here. O.K., get the next act.

The end of the first half, and nothing has gone wrong . . . well, almost nothing, except maybe that Darren Harrison's blindfold fell off during "Blindfold Boogie." So what's a little mistake like that. You say you saw it? Who asked you?

Second half is starting up. "Where is Darren? He's not ready, on, well . . . he's not ready! What do you mean he's not ready? Oh, he's on stage."

Ron Morgan and Sandy Shaw are doing a '50's dance. Sandy's skirt is falling down! Most would hold it up or run off the stage. Does she? No way. She drops the skirt right there and keeps on dancing. After the dance is over she picks up her skirt, goes off stage and calmly has a nervous breakdown.

"Finale! Everyone on stage." The curtain comes down, and then "It's partytime!" All head for Patsy McDowell's house.

Sophomore Kellee Meyer dances to the song, "That's the Way I Like It."

Junior Bob Weaver performs as Noah in "Noah and the Ark."

Crown goes to Penny

The excitement is contagious. The weather is just about right for the 1976 Homecoming. The stands are filling fast. All the talking and laughter is deafening. Chills run up and down spines because of what exactly, the evening holds in store.

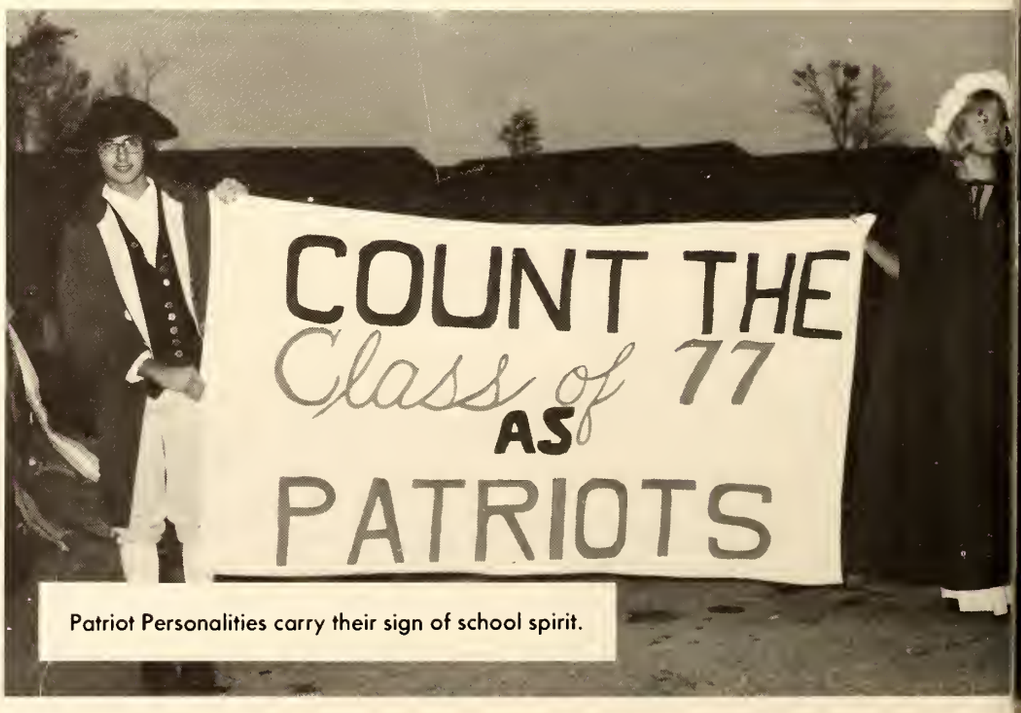
We will be playing the Ritter Raiders; it should be a good game. As the game starts, people are still running around and gossiping to all their friends.

At halftime the first of the activities begins with the floats. The juniors are the winners of the class competition. Their theme was appropriate, "Raid the Raiders." The float displayed a gigantic Raid can. Best club float was the Naturalist Club and the activity award was won by the Choir float.

Suspense was felt in the air as the Homecoming Queen and her court were about to be announced. Last year's queen, Carol Clawson, was here to turn her crown over to this year's queen. " . . . and this year's Homecoming Queen is Penny Thompson!" Her court includes Kathy Worley, Karen Schroeder, Pam Morrison, and Cheryl Smith. They all took a final run around the track and as they drove past the east side of the stands the stadium lights went off. The fireworks began in splendor and continued for what seemed such a short time.

As the game is continued, Marshall wins with a score of 21-7. As the stands emptied everyone seems satisfied. The laughing and smiles are the clue that the evening has been a success.

Principal Thomas M. Haynes crowns Penny Thompson as Queen.



Patriot Personalities carry their sign of school spirit.

Love fireworks!
Pats ice Homecoming with win

Homecoming was near. The junior class had two weeks to plan and construct their float. Knowing that Duane Farris and Brad Goffinet were going to be our sponsors boosted our confidence.

As we sat in room 254 deciding on the theme "Raid the Raiders," we also had to figure out where to get the supplies. The 2x4's, the hay, and the wagon were all donated by the junior class families. The most expensive items were napkins and the chicken wire.

The building of the float began at Jack Edward's house. The guys seemed to do most of the work while Wayne Baby's geometric brain did the figuring. The girls didn't seem to be needed.

After playing pool, we all took off in cars. We stopped at stop lights and played Chinese fire drill, with Shepherd and Matheson hitting heads as they both came flying through opposite doors. Don't ask me how, but Shepherd seemed to end up with her head under the seat and her feet out the window. We also ran some fat off by playing football. With Dowton kicking, Goldman catching and me, Walls, throwing, we managed to get Johnson's football in a ten-foot ditch five times.

October 8 finally came. Everybody met at Jack's to put the finishing touches on the float. The muscle men began.

With Farris leading the float, and Lynch following it, we didn't seem to have very many problems. We managed to salvage some loose pieces with Schluge, Hammond, DeVore and Wood there to rescue them. When we finally got to school, we laid the grass and the lines down and attached the bugs to the goal posts. It looked great.

Halftime events had started. The Naturalist club won the club award, and choir won the activities award. We won the over-all award. It made the junior class feel great.

There is the sound of banging typewriters in the background as people ask various questions.

"I need someone to write a copy for this picture!"

"Will you type this story up?"

"Come on everybody! I want to get out of here early tonight!"

"WHO KNOWS HOW TO TYPE?"

"Eight typewriters for 100 writers!" "Help!"

A-a-a-ah!

"This head doesn't fit!"

"And the early editor award goes to Jenkins."

More than 100 students work on the LIBERATOR, MARHISCAN and NEWS BUREAU. They work in 236 and earn one-half credit each semester. The photography staff led by Lynda Stucker and Mike Staudt are shared (pleaded with, yelled at) by all staffs.

Putting the MARHISCAN together is a hectic job. The editors have to make sure that 184 pages of pictures and stories are handed in on time for the spring book. More color, more layout variety and better organization were goals of editors Lisa Crawley and Pam Adams.

The MARHISCAN and JUST US have much in common. They both have either the works of students or news about them.

JUST US is a collection of student writing. The 12 staffers contact teachers, collect material, edit it and produce the student book. Mrs. Nancy Williams is the sponsor.

The LIBERATOR is the information source around JMHS. It costs 15¢ a copy or $1.00 per semester for the weekly paper.

Stories for the LIBERATOR consists of sports, features, editorials and news. The page editors led by Editor-in-chief Coral Bennet assigns and edits the stories of the 40 reporters. Tuesdays and Thursdays were the hectic days of laying out the paper. Brian Johnson sold nearly $3500 worth of advertising to the community.

The News Bureau . . . who? What's that? You know, News Bureau, the ones who write for the Topics, Indy East, and Indianapolis Star and News. Oh, you don't get those papers . . . well, just look in last year's yearbook—no don't, we weren't in there. There really is a News Bureau at John Marshall and we do write for those papers. Our staff consists of three reporters who average between themselves about one story per week, and an editor who by now has gone crazy trying to get more stories and getting nothing but " . . . I've been trying to get an interview all week, but he's never in when I go there and . . . ". So here we are, The John Marshall News Bureau, we finally made it to the top . . . well, at least to page 76.

A Cold Dark Morning

I stand in the cold dark part of morning waiting for my bus, I usually ride the Y-5. There are nine Metro buses that bring 645 students.

That's a lot of people for such a few number of buses. Two of my friends and I get a ride down to a stop before anyone else gets on so that we can get a seat.

Finally, at last my bus comes at 7:30 a.m. By that time icicles are hanging from my mittens and coat. As I climb up the steps to the bus, I usually find a bus driver who is just as cold as I am.

In just a few more stops the bus usually gets crowded, and by the time we get past all the stops, all of the seats are filled with no aisle to walk in because there are people standing, sitting on books, and even laps. It takes about 20 to 30 minutes to go to school, depending upon the bus you get on and the driver. In one corner of the bus there are four people playing a game of spades, and in another corner there are two people having a discussion about something that I can barely make sense out of; but, they can be heard by everyone.

Cigarette smoke fills the air, my lungs right along with it.

Well, here we are at some railroad tracks on 34th Street, the lights are flashing but there is no train in sight so the bus cannot cross the track until a Metro supervisor comes from wherever he is. Now you would think that grown men and women that have enough common sense to drive a bus, would have enough judgement to be able to know when to pass a railroad crossing.

Well, after what seemed like an hour, in about ten minutes, the supervisor finally comes and tells the bus driver he can pass. I begin to think that whoever thought of that rule must have had their head run over by a train or two!

Finally after about 25 minutes of people yelling, cigarette smoke fighting to get in my lungs and shivering in the cold dark part of morning, I finally reach my destination, good ole John Marshall where there are plenty of assignments and teachers awaiting my arrival.

Can I Have A Menu?

"Do you go out?"

"No, I stay in the noisy cafeteria."

"We tell jokes, and we talk about our small problems. We talk about the food, how sometimes it's good and sometimes it's not so good. We think 10:30 is too early for lunch. We talk about grades, tests, subjects and teachers."

"Ham and cheese and hamburgers are my favorites. I spend 35 cents sometimes and sometimes I spend $1.50."

The cafeteria sells 225 pounds of hamburger and about 300 pounds of french fries a day. They serve about 2000 half pint cartons of milk during a day's time. The cafeteria has held the prices about the same by cutting down on workers, government commodities and comparing the different food stores and buying the best quality for the cheapest price. They have about twenty-eight workers in the kitchen. Six of those have worked there for the past ten years. They are as follows: Mrs. Sesham, Supervisor; Mrs. Englebert, Office Secretary; Mrs. Rafalco, Vegetable Cook; Mrs. TeVault, Salads; Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Baldwin.

The favorite meals of the students are hamburgers and french fries and fish. The favorite desserts of students are chocolate chip cookies, crum-topped apple pie, turnovers and hot cherry cobbler.

Marshall's basketball fans have had some rough seasons in the past year, but this year the fans were rewarded. The Patriots made history by capturing the first sectional title in the school's history. In addition to this, the squad compiled the best record in six years and the first winning season since 1974.

The first game of the season seemed to remind fans of the past as Marshall dropped a one-pointer to Warren Central. After that setback, things started to look up as the squad rolled up victory after victory. The crowds began to pour into Marshall's gym to root Marshall on.

When the Pats knocked off such highly rated teams as Anderson and Manual, the student body was really aroused. In fact, three of Marshall's six losses were to teams that carried state ranking and a fourth was county champion. When the season had rolled to an end, and the sectionals were about to start, Marshall's record stood at 13-6, a complete turn around from last year's 3-15 record.

Never was a team so ready for the sectional as was Marshall at the newly formed Franklin Central sectional. In the opening game a huge Marshall crowd watched their team avenge an early season to Warren, destroying the Warriors by 15 points. In the sectional, gloomy Franklin Central fans watched as the Patriots stopped the favorite by four points. The final game was anti-climatic as Marshall outclassed the Scecina five and carried home Marshall's first championship trophy.

Although the team consists mainly of seniors, next year seems to promise similar results. All sectional David "Pancho" Wright returns with starter Kevin Jones. The services of seniors Gene Franklin, Norman Broadus and Steve Pennybaker will be sorely missed but replacements should be found among many outstanding junior varsity players.

A. Pancho Wright snags an important rebound in the sectional finals against Scencia. B. Senior Steve Pennybaker makes an aggressive attempt to stop his opponent. C. Kevin Jones arches his shot over the hapless Manual defense. D. Steve Pennybaker successfully completes a vital lay-up. E. Pennybaker shows his magic moves as he leaves a Manual player behind.

Looking for Patriot spiritmakers

Wanted: Applicants for cheerleading. Must be willing to scream, cry and yell at 30 games, to devote 200 hours to practice, to break bones in gymnastics, to be bouncy, cheerful, friendly, hardworking and loyal and to be unafraid of being frozen, rained upon and steam-heated. Decorating locker room and buses and making spirit signs are also part of their job.

Marshall's three cheerleading squads, directed by Mrs. Martha Griffin, led the "loyal Patriots" during the football and basketball seasons. For the second year during the basketball season, seven boys joined the varsity girls. Strong men helped build skyhigh pyramids. Senior cheerleader Kathy Graves said, "The boys are learning their routines much faster this year."

From the approximately 55 girls that tried out, 19 made it. The varsity squad has seven girls and the J.V. and freshman squads were made up of six girls. All tried out under the same standards. The girls are judged on gymnastics, voice, form, looks, and personality, by a selection committee of faculty and students.

The members of the squads were Mike Medford, Larry Lynch, Ron Morgan, Steve Shepard, Derek Paff, Mark Weaver and Mark Pack, Sheila Malone, LeAnn Miller, Debbie Fontana, Dorcus White, Kathy Graves, Elane Hauck, and Karen Schroeder.

Junior Varsity members were Tina White, Donna Taylor, Vicki Williams, Shelly Haskett, Tonya Hudson and Monique Waters. Freshman were Tina Schubart, Janelle White, Lisa Greenwald, Karen Ginger, Michelle Walker, and Dianne Swineford.

Gummy bears, car washes, blue jumpers, white bobbie socks, red and white saddle oxfords and the Patriot blanket will always be fond memories for the Matmaids.

Matmaids, sponsored by Duane Farris, are supporters of the Marshall Wrestlers.

During the matches, the Matmaids sit on the sidelines cheering the wrestlers on to victory, keep score and operate the video tape machine.

The officers who help run the program are Captain Bev Engelking, Co-captain Diane Goldman, Secretary Susan Engelking and Treasurer Ann Shronz. The varsity Matmaids are DeAnn Barcus, Sandy Emerick, Bev Engelking, Susan Engelking, Diane Goldman, Ann Shronz, Karen Smith and Sherry Todd. Junior varsity Matmaids are Faith Blaydoe, Wanda Foster, Mary Holden, Cheryl Miller, Terri Ostewig and Cathy Williams. These are the girls who share the emotional feelings of the wrestling team.

Medford, freshmen take city

Marshall's strong wrestling program was one of the big highlights of the winter sports season. At the end of their season the Patriots were able to claim two city champs, a semi-state contender and a small army of city and sectional runner-ups, on their three levels of wrestling.

On the freshman level, Nick Tuttle scrapped his way to the 105 lb. championship with a fine freshman team that captured the title.

The Reserve team was not as fortunate and could not pull out even one city champ, but produced enough runners-up to place second in the Reserve City.

The varsity team bounced back from a disappointing record to compile a not-so-bad win-loss slate. Mike Medford won the City at 165 lb. and Bill Bramell traveled to the Semi-state at 145 lb. The varsity record was 7 wins and 8 losses; likewise, the reserve were 9-4 and the freshmen were 4-1.

Team's inexperience hurts

Marshall's netters had a rough season this year, with several disappointing games just as the team started to take off. Nobody can take anything away from this hard-working squad, as they gave it their best right up to the end of the season. Behind powerful players like Doug Reed, Bruce Everett, strong doubles players, a winning season was in reach until the final game of the season. Despite this setback the netters finished with a fine 6-8 record; many of the losses were by a close 3-4 score. Coach John Eason attributed the season's failures to inexperienced players, a tough schedule and the fact that the second man, Darren Harrison was forced to quit at the mid season mark. This forced players with less experience to play in the difficult second and third spots. This caused the team to give away two games in almost every match. As you can see the matches won by Marshall were hard wins indeed and made possible only by the number one man Doug Reed and the other doubles team. Reed was by far the outstanding player on the squad with a 5-4 record and honors in the city. This was Reed's first season on the squad, and he was playing some of the best competition in the city. He will certainly be improved next year. The doubles teams were also successful when their age is taken into account: Junior Bob Keaffaber and Wes Gentry were the standouts in an outstanding group. The number two teams were made up of junior Jeff Smith and freshman Jeff Opel. Opel is the brother of former Marshall tennis star Doug Opel, and we will be looking for his improvement.

The outlook for next year is good. Only one senior, Greg Beriault, was lost from this year's squad. With players like Reed and the doubles team of Keafebbar and Gentry, Eason has offered limited opportunities with the statement, "I think we will have a better team next year."

Marshall's bowlers should show their dominance in this field by taking the city crown once again. Despite a close call by Warren Central, the Patriot kegglers stayed on top for the fourth year in a row. A good and experienced team was the dominate reason for the bowlers' success. Seniors Steve Pauley and Tony Trowbridge added their experience to this year's squad as Juniors David Bernard and Keith Farley help retain the hopes of the future. You might remember Pauly from last year when he scored the first 700 series in the team's history. A fifth city title in a row is very possible as many bowlers return, including freshman star Jennifer Chapman.

An ordinary day with the deans

"Ah, come on man!"

"Man, what'd you cut?"

"Study hall, I didn't even know they turned in cuts in there."

One student rushes through the dean's door, "I can't find my class, I went in late to art and they weren't there."

"Well, son, go to the department head and find out where they are," the dean replies.

Outside the office is the nervous tapping of students' feet as they wait to see the dean.

Ten yeas ago Marion Burleson came to John Marshall High School as Dean of Boys; previously, he taught at Arlington High School for fourteen years, two of which he served as assistant Dean of Boys.

Burleson sees countless students each day, mainly for attendance problems; but, also, to issue home lunch passes and for some counseling. Burleson is also a sponsor of the National Honor Society.

"I've received letters from parents and students who have attended Marshall—parents thanking me for helping students through rough times in school. Some problem students write me about their regrets about dropping out of school."

Marilyn Hardwick, Dean of Girls, is also the supervisor of extra-curricular activities. She is the sponsor of Z-club, A girls honorary.

Hardwick finds satisfaction in her job when, "I have received graduation announcements and invitations from students I have counseled. Many have moved and are graduating from a different school."

Many students seek out a Dean for personal counseling that has nothing to do with a discipline problem.

Mrs. Gloria Dozier and George McCool are the assistant deans. They concentrate on attendance problems.

Earning credits 'on the job'

DE (Distributive Education) and ICT (Industrial Co-op. Training) are work study programs. These classes enable students to learn how to succeed in their vocations and investigate different work areas.

DE deals with the manufacturing and retailing of goods and services. ICT is the actual "on the job" training. The courses are worth two high school credits. One credit is job-related and the other credit deals with the classroom. Grades are evaluated by the teacher and employer. The teacher judges a student on his classroom work, whereas the employer grades on: attendance, punctuality, general attitude, quality of work, quantity of work, attitude toward supervision, appearance, dependability, initiative and safety practices.

DE leans toward students who have a saleable skill, those mechanically inclined. ICT is designed for students who are seeking careers in nursing, drafting, etc.

Students are paid minimum wages and at the same time, able to explore an occupation of their choice.

Paul Hayes and Dave Russell, teachers who organize the DE and ICT classes, do not guarantee jobs, but inform students on openings in jobs relating to their chosen occupations.

DE and ICT allow the students to prepare for the future. They help the students make up their minds on chosen vocations and allow them to stumble on other various jobs.

Training for work

Vocational training or business education, which is typing, shorthand or accounting, teaches basic skills that can benefit students in many ways. The business department has nearly 1500 students enrolled in the different classes with typing being the most popular.

While some students take typing or accounting to use in different jobs, many take them for a basic skill.

"We all need some skills to use in earning a living, and it's much cheaper to get it in high school than in post-high school trainings," says Mrs. Janet Weaver, business head.

Speakers with business experience, field trips and films supplement the regular business instruction. On-the-job training where grades are also given as part of the curriculum. DE and ICT are part of this.

The Industrial Arts courses in masonry, metal shop, drafting, aerospace, printing, carpentry, and auto mechanics also trains students in practical vocational areas. The freshmen get to sample all the areas so they can choose the areas they want to concentrate on.

still crazy after all these years

As I walked into the room, 242, I hesitated, I could feel the lump in my throat enlarge as the palms of my hands grew sweaty from fear. All the questions I had prepared for my interview had completely vanished from my thoughts, even my knees had become weak. I drew a deep breath.

I slowly walked in. There was my victim leaning over a lab station in the back of the room, helping a student with his lab work. I stood at the doorway, hoping not to be too obvious, waiting to be invited in.

I looked around the room which was filled with students who were loudly confering with one another. All of a sudden I heard, "All right people, let's get to work." The change of atmosphere was unbelievable, a silence hung over the room and the students pursued their assignments. This was not unusual though; that was Robert Tremain vocalizing.

Tremain could be compared to the commercial— "When E. F. Hutton speaks people listen!" Well, when Tremain speaks, people listen — or else. Tremain proceeded up front— "Oh no! I've been spotted, this is it!"

Just as I was ready to make tracks, I felt the pressure of a hand on my shoulder, I turned and was greeted with "How are you?" I returned his hello. Suddenly all the fears I had, left. I felt foolish for having been so stupid. It would have been completely different if I hadn't known the man but actually he and I were good friends. I explained to him that I wanted to interview him and he willingly consented.

Bob Tremain

Bob Tremain

Tremain sat down behind his desk, sighed and said, "You don't mind if I have a cup of coffee, do you?" He then proceeded to reach for his cup with a big "T" on it— his status symbol. My questions were obvious, I needed to know his biography and why he came to Marshall as a biology teacher. He proceeded to tell me all about his high school years up to the present.

Tremain came to Marshall his Junior year, the first year Marshall was open. He was the LIBERATOR and MARHISCAN sports editor. Tremain participated in ROTC and was Sgt. 1st class of his company A. He played varsity football, varsity wrestling and varsity baseball. Both years, Tremain was voted to the all-city baseball team. As a senior, he was elected Student Council

Brad Goffinet

Brad Goffinet

President, President of Letterman's Club and maintained honor-roll standings. Tremain was Newspaper Honorable Mention Varsity football player, placed second in the varsity wrestling sectionals and made all-city baseball. Active on the newspaper, he was joined by his brother and became co-sports editor of the yearbook.

In 1969, Tremain's graduating year, he was awarded an academic and sports scholarship to Indiana Central. During his college years, he majored physical education and health and minored in biology. Tremain's college years consisted of four years of baseball, three years as a Letterman and he was voted captain of his baseball team. He received the Kelsoried Mental Attitude Award and the Walter Brenamon Sportsmanship Award. Tremain was scouted by the San Francisco Giants but declined for financial reasons and because of a knee injury. He then pursued a career as a teacher.

Tremain returned to JMHS in 1973 with a position in the Science Department as a biology teacher. Today he coaches freshman football, freshman wrestling and has led the varsity baseball team to sectional victory.

When asked who inspired him to be the man he is today, he replied, "Doc Weaver, he encouraged me and showed a lot of interest in what I did and thought. I think I've patterned my teaching methods after him." Tremain's list included his Mom and Dad and others.

As a high school student, Tremain was considered a leader; he always aided a friend when someone had a problem. "Big Tree" has returned to Marshall.

My next victim was Brad Goffinet, a close friend of Tremain's. Goffinet came to Marshall his freshman year in 1968. He participated in freshman basketball and freshman baseball. The next three years, Goffinet played varsity basketball and varsity baseball.

In his senior year, Goffinet was an active member of the Letterman's Club and student council. In 1972, he earned a four year scholarship to Butler University. During his college years he majored in health and drug education. Goffinet played four years of baseball, two years of basketball and maintained good grades throughout his college years.

Goffinet was scouted by the Cincinnati Reds and also declined for financial reasons; he wanted to pursue a career as a teacher.

Goffinet returned to JMHS in 1975 to begin teaching. He also coached in reserve baseball. This year Goffinet will coach the freshman basketball team.

When asked who inspired him to be the man he is today he replied, "Mr. Harvey and Mr. Froning (Clark Froning, former health teacher and baseball coach) inspired me the most. Harvey was able to relate to the students and Froning was there when I had a problem."

Goffinet seemed to be surprised with the way Marshall had changed over the years. He noticed that the dress code was now non-existent and that there seemed to be a whole new change of atmosphere, especially with the addition of the Industrial Arts wing.

Through their high school and college years both men maintained good grades, actively participated in sports and clubs and weren't afraid of becoming involved. Tremain and Goffinet are back because they sincerely care about the students at Marshall.

FRESHMEN

Try to get a locker open and find a class in a big strange building within five minutes. These plus many other thoughts ran through the minds of freshmen the first couple weeks of school.

On the first day of school the freshmen were taken into the auditorium and introduced to Principal Haynes and other faculty members.

All freshmen must take orientation to help them plan a career choice and selecting their majors and minors to meet graduation requirements. Classes that were chosen by freshmen included General Math, World Civilization, and Physical Education.

There are 725 students in the class of 1980. The class members got involved into the school activities by joining clubs of all sorts, going to sporting events, and building their class float for Homecoming.

In the first part of the year the "Liberator" took an opinion poll where fifty of the 725 students were asked how they liked Marshall and its teachers. Only three of the fifty students said they didn't like Marshall.

Most of the class of '80 found Marshall a friendly place.

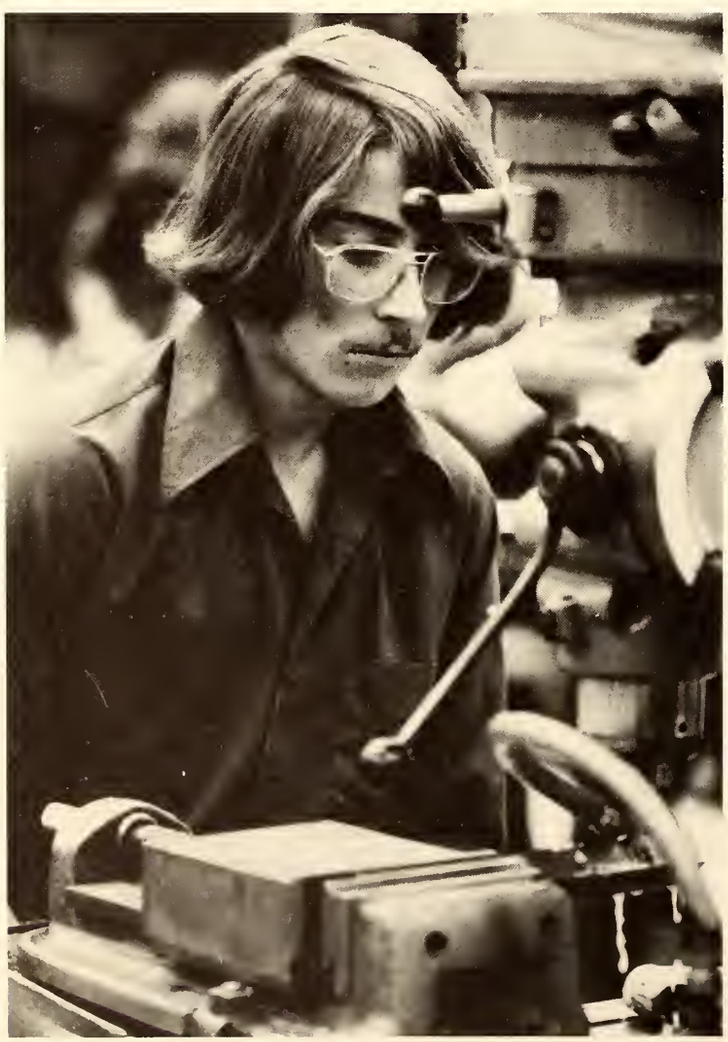
Sophs find Biology OK

Most sophomores heard rumors about the "must" biology course and dreaded taking it; but, once they were into the course and went on field trips to learn how to identify birds and collect insects and leaves for their collections, they really enjoyed it.

This year sophomore English classes returned to doing research papers, and most also read and reported on the book "Johnny Tremain". This is the last year for sophomores to choose Phase Electives. Becoming active in school activities was the goal of many.

Third place "Soph" float "Feeling Free" features Cathy Keller and Tracy Caster.



Randall Harpold is preparing a part for a steam engine on a vertical milling machine in Mr. Hester's class.
As Mr. Otto lectures to the rest of his class, Susan Watson, Vincent Duerson and Robert Donnel work independently.

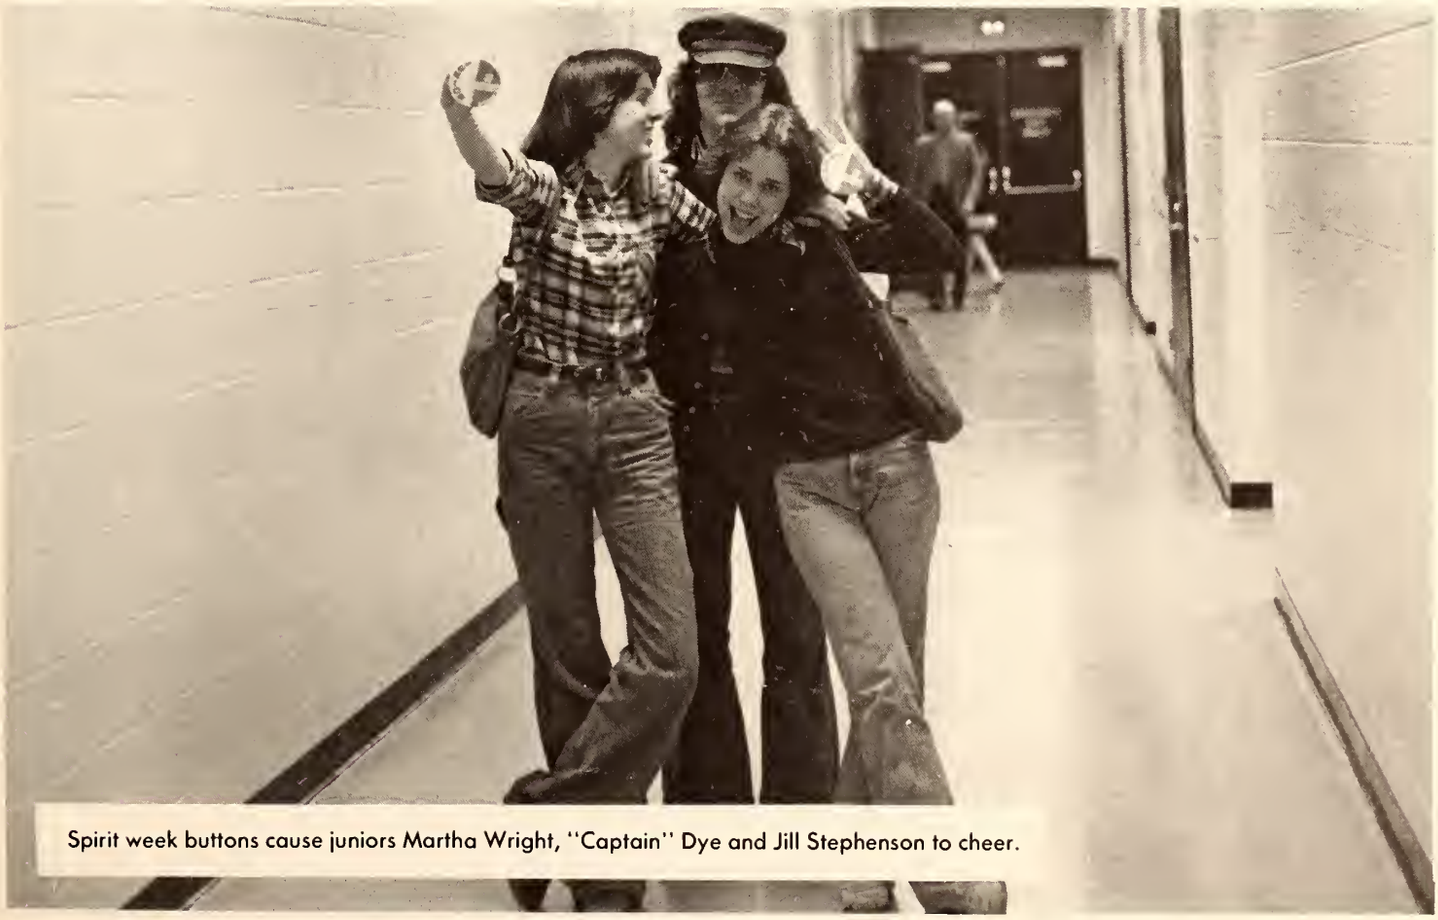
Mr. Haynes "Runs for Fun" and makes a good finish time.

Freshmen basketball begins here.



Spirit week buttons cause juniors Martha Wright, "Captain" Dye and Jill Stephenson to cheer.

'78

This year will probably be a memorable one for the Junior class. Not only have they received drivers' license and won first place for their homecoming float, but this winter has been a winter for record breaking temperatures and snowfalls.

The class of '78 will also remember 1977 by its many hit movies like "A Star is Born" and "King Kong", and hit songs like "Hot Line" and "Beth".

The year 1978 is more than a memorable one for the Junior class. It is a year for looking forward to the prom at the end of the year and looking forward to next year when they will become the new Senior Class of JMHS.

These students display some of the styles of shoes and socks that are popular now-a-days.

Naturalists Club trips are exciting and educational. They are enjoyed by just about everyone.

Showing their opinion of the game, these students (and parents), cheer and clap their hands and add a few of their own words to the game.

FACULTY

Making up 10 days of lost time through such programs as Operation Catch-Up and Snow-Grow, trying to condense six weeks of the second semester into five weeks because the first semester had been lengthened a week and fighting winter flu and colds in a building which varied in temperature, became priority staff measures this year. The snow-clogged roads and 50 degrees below zero wind chill will long be a topic of conversation as the winter of '77 set all kinds of cold snowy records.

Virginia Esten birded in Ecuador and the Galopogos Islands, Randy Lamb lost his mustache to the Key Club Christmas Can Drive. The language department became a real memory-teaser as the faces kept changing.

But the biggest 10 year "water mark" was the return of spirit to the school. The always-active club sponsors attracted more members. The hallway meetings of students were friendly and, of course, winning sectionals in baseball and basketball helped build spirit. Math and reading scores at Marshall were above the city averages. Student and staff absenteeism improved.

Dan Johnson had the first IPS student, Mark Gibbon, to qualify for certification from the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory as an apprentice welder. Brice Tressler's four German students were half of the total IPS students to qualify for the IU honors program.

Weightlifting helps many athletes such as those in football, swimming and baseball. Other sports also require muscle stretching and strengthening. Marshall students lift weights under the supervision of trained instructors. The weight room is presently located in a storage room over the gym. Pressing weights, doing leg lifts and snatch and jerk exercises are part of the instruction. Lifting weights help put "muscle meat" not "fat" on Marshall athletes.
